Senior Spotlight

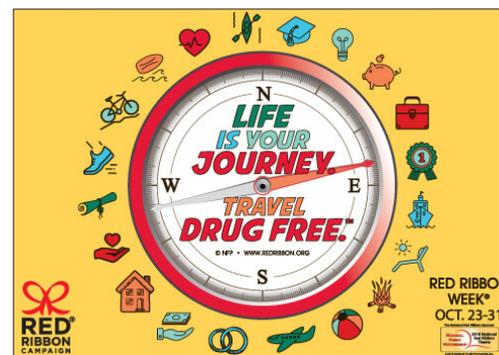

Jackson Michael Batchelor was born on March 3, 2001. He is the son of Angie Batchelor. He is involved in Drama Club and weightlifting. His favorite teachers are Mrs. Balzer, Mr. Ridings, Mr. Elfrink, Mrs. Patton, Mr. Whitson, Mr. Randecker, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Boyer, and Coach Stein. He can't pick what his favorite food is because there are too many for him to name. Blue is his favorite color.

When Jackson was a child, he wanted to be a marine biologist. His plans after high school are to attend Southern New Hampshire University (SNHU) online and pursue a degree in video game development. He has too many favorite memories from his high school career. His most embarrassing memory from high school is when he missed the bus at CTC, and then he had to walk over a mile to find the bus. The people that he looks up to are his mom and his teachers.

Jackson's motto is, "I don't know, I mind my own business, and I don't get involved!"

Red Ribbon Week

Red Ribbon Week began yesterday at Woodland. Red Ribbon Week is a time dedicated to raise awareness and helping students understand the harmful effects of alcohol, tobacco, drugs, and other violence. This event is based around the Red Ribbon Campaign organization that was established in 1985, and is observed annually in October. This year's national theme for Red Ribbon Week is "Life is Your Journey. Travel Drug Free."

Joelle Mayfield, high school counselor and WASTED sponsor says, "WASTED, Woodland's Association of Students to End Drugs, implements a variety of activities and overall awareness for the student body during this week. Those include posters, theme days throughout the week, guest speakers and pledging for students to commit to being alcohol, drug, and tobacco free. Healthy bodies help to build healthy minds and healthy futures!"

Tomorrow's theme for the elementary and middle schools is Beach Day (dress like you're at the beach), and Friday's theme is Travel Hair, Don't Care (where a hat or messy hair). High schools theme for tomorrow is You Choose! (dress where you would like to travel), and Friday's is Freedom Friday (dress in red, white, and blue).
